COBB'S ABRIDGMENT OF WALKER'S DICTIONARY.

Carefully compiled from the London quarto edition, published under the inspection of the Author, in which Mr. Walker's principles of Orthography and Pronunciation are strictly followed, and in addition, each word is systematically divided, the secondary accent noted, the plurals of nouns, the present tense and infinitive of verbs, the participles and the Division of words, with an Appendix, containing a class of words which are in common use in this country, and not found in Walker's Dictionary. Particularly designed for the use of Schools. By LYMAN COBB, author of the Spelling-Book.

"Mr. COBB—Sir—Having examined your School Dictionary so far as to become acquainted with its general plan and execution, I find it in many respects superiour to the common editions of Walker."

"I have no doubt of the superiour utility of a book constructed on the plan which you have embraced, over one in which the actual wants of the student are disregarded, or sacrificed to a desire of exhibiting the author's learning."

WALTER R. JOHNSON,

Principal of the Philadelphia High School.

"We have given the work some attention, and found it in many important respects superiour to those that are in ordinary use. The plurals of nouns are given, and the preterits and participles of verbs; the words are all divided into syllables, and, for the first time in any Dictionary, have the mark of the secondary accent."

"Several of the most respectable teachers of this city have expressed their approbation of Mr. COBB's book, and think it in every respect superiour to the common editions of Walker previously in use."—Philadelphia United States Gazette.

"This work has been compiled apparently with great care. The numerous discrepancies which have crept into larger editions are corrected, and the work is believed by those who have examined it, that the orthography and pronunciation are more correct than in other school dictionaries. Several instances of error have been pointed out, which render this work valuable."—New-York Morning Star.
